Mayor M. Maccagno Cuts Ribbon To Open Lacland Service Garage

Lacland Sales & Service garage recently held its grand opening with a good crowd in attendance. As he cut the ceremonial ribbon Mayor Maccagno congratulated the manager and staff and wished them much success in their business.

Officials from Massey - Ferguson, Edmonton, were Cecil Lyle, Cecil Golden and Ron Johnson. B.A. Oil was represented by Harold Mawson as J. M. Simpson of Westlock was unable to be present as originally planned.

Tommy Trefenanko of Wandering River was paying his bill, after having his tank filled with gas, when a previously set alarm sounded, indicating that Tommy had won a free tank of gas; consequently his money was returned to him. Steve Ponoci, also of Wandering River, won a filter in the number guessing contest.

Free coffee and doughnuts were served throughout the day and windshield wiping cloths and balloons were also given away.

Draws for other prizes are yet to be made and will be announced later.

The company consists of General Manager Nick Federchuk and Directors Mike Ilnicki, Nick Derko of Grassland and Harry Sankey of Edmonton. Elmer Gawreletz is partsman; Jake Hayduk, mechanic; and Philip Proulx, apprentice mechanic.

This modern new garage is a welcome addition to the thriving town.

Lac la Biche

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coats and small son Johnnie of Ft. Nelson were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kleven. Mr. Coats, who is with the department of transport, was transferred from Lac la Biche to Ft. Nelson earlier in the year. Both Mr. and Mrs. Coats hail from Newfoundland.

Miss Leona Rosa has joined the staff of the provincial treasury branch.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lionell Vincent for several days the past week were Mrs. Vincent's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Paterson, and four small sons of Whitecourt.

Miss Mary Tessolin and her cousin Doreen Caron of Edmonton left last week for a two-week holiday in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennie Proctor and baby daughter of Edmonton were recent guests at the Alex Proctor home. Ken's grandmother, Mrs. Dora Kibbe, returned with them after a visit with relatives in the city.

Friends of Mrs. Mary Romaniuk will be sorry to learn that she is again a patient in the University Hospital, Edmonton, after being home only a few days.

Camp McGrane Plans Welcome To Children

LAC LA BICHE — The Canadian Sunday School Mission Bible Camp to be held July 17 to 23 will be at a new location, the former Sea Cadet Camp, now known as Camp McGrane, operated by Sun Publishing Co. Ltd., for Alberta children.

Extensive alterations and improvements have been carried out at this beautiful camp site in readiness for the various organizations who will be using the camp grounds throughout the summer.

Any child between the ages of 8-18, wishing to enjoy a week of supervised recreation, Bible lessons and outdoor life, may apply by contacting Mrs. F. Creighton, secretary of the camp.

Dr. George Wellers, physiology professor at the Sorbonne in Paris, tells about "The Spinning Top" torture at the Adolf Eichmann trial in Jerusalem—how "a short stake would be driven into the ground. The Jews would be forced to put their right hand on the stake and hold their left hand before them. Then they were ordered to run around the stake as fast as they could while the Germans beat them with truncheons. About three times around the stake was about all a man could endure. But the Germans made them go around 10 times if they had not fainted first."

Cabinet Ministers Attend As Party Prepares For Election

No one knows when the Diefenbaker government will call the next election, but the Athabasca Federal Constituency Association isn't going to be caught napping. This Saturday, June 17, a nominating convention was to be held in Memorial Hall in Lac la Biche.

Business was to get underway at 2 p.m. under the chairmanship of Association President Ludwig Silver of Athabasca. National organizer Orvis Kennedy was to be on hand with two cabinet ministers, Hon. R. D. Jorgenson, minister of welfare and Hon. Ray Reirson, minister of labor and minister of telephones.

Mr. Kennedy said there is much interest in the federal constituency among Social Credit followers. He said rumors are constantly flying regarding the date of the next federal election. One suggested time is September, but :'if it doesn't come off then" said Mr. Kennedy, "I can't see it happening until the following September because the PCs would have to think about redistribution of seats following the taking of the census".

Back in 1957, Archie McPhail came close to taking the federal seat, but former RCMP member Jack Biggs took it in 1958 in the Tory landslide victory.

At the Saturday convention a new slate of officers for the Association was to be elected, and nominations were to be received for federal candidate.

Allan Currie Hurt In Truck Accident

PEACE RIVER — Allan Currie a member of the Peace River fire department narrowly escaped serious injury Wednesday evening of last week when he was thrown from the back of the moving fire truck, while on the way to answer a call from the Nurses' Residence at the Peace River Municipal Hospital.

Mr. Currie suffered a shoulder separation and a bruised leg in the mishap. He was taken to the Peace River Hospital and later to the Royal Alexandra Hospital in Edmonton for treatment.

Mr. Currie was riding on the back of the fire engine and with wrench and hydrant gate in one hand, was holding on with the other. The engine started to slow down, and he reached for the hydrant, but at that moment the engine accelerated again, and he was thrown heavily to the road. He managed to roll clear of the other vehicles rushing to the fire, and was assisted to the hospital by another member of the fire department crew.

The fire was contained in the porch of the Nurses' Residence, where a portable barbecue had been upset, and was soon extinguished.

Mr. Currie is a brother of Mrs. Jean Knott of Edmonton, a member of the Sun Publishing Co. staff.

Alberta Districts Study Gas Distribution System

The Lac la Biche town owned gas distribution system continues to attract interest from other Alberta communities.

Last week delegations from two towns made the trip to Lac la Biche for the purpose of getting first hand information on the system and making a personal inspection of installations.

E. Halverson, Aubrey Nelson and Trevor Morgan of Sundre interviewed the town mayor and secretary and the manager of the gas system, asking questions and taking notes. A trip was also made to one of the gas wells. The men seemed favorably impressed with the way the gas utility is meeting all expectations and with the fact that the town people have given such a hearty endorsement to the principle of a town-owned utility.

Later in the week a three-man delegation from the town of Morinville paid a visit to Lac la Biche for the same purpose and evidently with much the same result.

Latest figures show 177 active gas accounts on the town's books. This number will doubtless rise sharply before the next cold weather season sets in, as there are well over 200 service connections made. Plans are taking shape for an extension of mains to serve the area south of the NAR tracks, and new applications are being received daily at the town office.

GREEN ACRES

By Fred Strashok, District Agriculturist

On Monday, June 19 the extension engineer from the Alberta Department of Agriculture will attend a Field Day at which tillage machine adjustments will be discussed. The Field Day will be held at William Ponich's farm at Breynat (one mile north of Breynat Post Office). The engineer will be there at 1:00 p.m. to assist farmers in the tillage machine adjustment and operation.

Proper tillage of our land is very essential for weed control, soil conservation and the preparation of a good seed bed. This day may clear up some problems that you may have with your tillage machines. The plow, the tiller, the discer and other tillage machinery operation and maintenance will be discussed. Your problems are our problems, so come to this field day and let us help each other in solving same.

Remember, this day is sponsored by the Alberta Department of Agriculture for your benefit. It will only be too fitting that you bring your problems to the Agricultural Extension Engineer.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Bring your friends and neighbors along.

CHEMICAL WEED CONTROL

After proper cultivation of the land and the seeding of it to cereal or forage crops many farmers in this area are not mindful of the fact that there are other means of controlling weeds—yes, even after the seeding has been done. Chemical weed control has done wonders for farmers throughout the farming areas and it is regretful to see that only a few resort to this control of weeds in this area.

Weeds are the thieves. There are the plants that grow and rob the soil of moisture and plant food that should be made available for the crops we seed. Timely and proper application of chemical for the control of specific weeds is very essential in order that crops may benefit.

In the experiments carried out in some provinces it has been found that the reduction of yield of cereal crops because of infestation of weeds has averaged about 4.3 bushels for wheat; 3.6 bushels for barley; 6.1 bushels for oats and 2.1 bushels for flax. It was also found that crops increased in yield up to 3 bushels because MCPA or 2,4-D were used. These are very significant increases at small expense.

Chemicals cost per acre are about 25c to 45c. The use of the tractor and sprayer may amount to another 65c to 75c per acre. At the cost of $1.00 per acre a farmer, on the average, gets a return of about $6.00 per acre. Any businessman will tell you that if you can earn 600% return on your investments that that is a good business proposition. At the same time the farmer is preventing weeds from coming to seed and multiplying.

All in all chemical weed spraying of cereal crops is a paying proposition. If you want further information on how to use the chemicals and for the particular kind of weeds, we have bulletins at the district agriculturist offices which may clear up these problems.

Remember—spray. Early spraying pays off.

Water Satefy Week was held the earliest ever this year to remind the public that drownings can happen early in the water season too.

THE Homemaker

By BERTHA M. McCUTCHEON

The Health Rule is: "Two raw fruits or vegetables a day" in winter as well as summer—if you would have an adequate supply of minerals and vitamins. Salads provide an excellent means of serving these raw foods. In cooking, there is a considerable loss of essential minerals and vitamins, especially "Vitamin C", which is destroyed by heat. An abundance of Vitamin C in one's diet will help prevent dental caries and sore gums, sore and stiff joints, sallow complexion, tiredness, fretful disposition, hemorrhagic spots on the skin. Fresh fruits and vegetables provide roughage necessary to prevent constipation. To get the most food value from your salad do not soak the vegetables in water and do not prepare salads until ready to serve.

B. McCutcheon

SALAD AIDS

—Wash all fresh fruits and vegetables carefully.

—Cut foods into medium-sized pieces so that they keep their identity.

—Drain all foods well before adding the dressing.

—Toss salads with two forks to mix.

—Season imaginatively and to taste, for example try mint with fruit, peas, beets, onions, basil and marporam with tomatoes; rosemary with cauliflower, and anise with apples.

—Add dressing to green and fruit salads just before serving.

—Combine dressing with meat, potato and mixed vegetables an hour before serving to allow for a blending of flavors.

—Use only enough dressing to moisten.

—Serve salads thoroughly chilled on cold dishes.

—Garnish sparingly with edibles.

RADWAY GRADS TOLD:

Education Important In This Era Of Modern Advancement

Education is vitally important in view of the great advancements being made in this space age, H. Kostash, superintendent of schools in the County of Smoky Lake, told Radway graduands recently.

Mr. Kostash, guest speaker at the exercises held in the Radway high school auditorium, said such things as air travel have made us citizens of the whole world. Because of contact with other nations ,education is important. It does not stop here or at university, he said.

Mr. Kostash recalled that when he graduated some 40 years ago, things which have become a reality now were only dreamed of at that time. The car, for example, was only in its infancy. Today we have jet liners that travel at a speed of 600 mph.

He quoted from an article printed in the Smoky Lake Gazette by Ken Larson, managing editor of Sun Publishing, who last month flew by jet to Great Britain. Mr. Kostash explained how Mr. Larson had breakfast by Edinburgh Castle in Edinburgh, Scotland; dinner in London, England; supper just prior to arriving at Winnipeg, Manitoba; and a light snack after landing in Edmonton the same day.

"We are no more citizens of this comunity only." said Mr. Kostash. "Neither are we citizens of this province only, or this country. We are now citizens of the whole world—and perhaps 40 years from now we may become citizens of the universe."

The exercises opened with a processional march by the graduands, followed by an invocation by Rev. Father Gural, and a welcome address by Mayor of Radway, F. Pyesmany. Upon introducing the graduands Principal Golan expressed his best wishes to the citizens of to-morow for the best of success. The presentation of awards was made by Walter Din, president of the students' union.

Class validictorian Evelyn Kotylak said, "we wish to express our many thanks to all who made this day possible, and gave us the golden key."

"This is an important era in life, and as we walk out into this great country, we hope in years to come to remember your contributions in making us the citizens of tomorrow. This is a happy event, and as we face the challenge of the world whatever the destiny will be, we will remember our parents, teachers and class."

In the superintendent's message, I. Goresky congratulated the graduands, and pointed out that their portion has not been an easy one, but that there are many emotional problems preventing many students from graduating. "It is important that when we spend so much time and money, we should strive to see them through," said Mr. Goresky.

During the excercises guests were entertained by a vocal solo, by Katherine Yurkiw; piano solo, Sophia Gural; vocal trio, Sonia Litwin, Zenivia Hnatiuk and Dennis Dacyshyn; vocal duet, Christina Gural and Adeline Kozoway; piano solo Borys Flak; and Junior High School Choir. Lunch was served to the graduates and guests. In the evening a dance was held in the Radway Hall in honor of the graduands.

Pupils Enjoy Trip To District Lakes

The Spedden Grade 9 to 12 motored to Lac la Biche Lake and Beaver Lake for an end-of-year hike.

The pupils stopped at Beaver River or a wiener roast on their way back to town. After the wiener roast everyone went sight-seeing along the river, then home again.

Pioneer Methods Demonstrated By Shandro Museum Association

A chapter in Alberta's history was relived on Farmes' Day when Shandro district residents observed methods used by Alberta pioneers more than 60 years ago. The event was sponsored by the Shandro Pioneers Museum Association.

Grain grinding, oil processing, rope making, wool carding, spinning, weaving, sowing grain, harvesting, trimming logs and roof thatching were among the activities demonstrated by persons skilled in the arts.

Ukrainian, Romanian, and Indian folk dancing by trained groups in their colorful native costumes and dancing to the tunes of native instruments were highlights of the event.

Short talks were given by FUA and FWUA representatives, MLA's, district agriculturists and 4-H Club representatives.

SHRUBS TO GROW IN SHADE

Many homeowners have a special gardening problem, shade. This shade problem means that only certain types of flowers, vines and shrubs can be grown.

Shown in the Garden-Graph are three kinds of shrubs which thrive in the shade. Other shade-loving shrubs are five-fingered aralia, forsythia, witchhazels and viburnums, plus several of the evergreen shrubs.

Hydrangea arborescens grandiflora, known as Hills of Snow, is especially good in shady areas. It also can be used in house and foundation plantings. It is a striking plant with its large clusters of snowball-like flowers five to six inches across. The leaves are large and a dark green. This shrub grows from 3½ to five feet tall. It flowers from July to August and a few blooms continue coming through September. It will even put up with poor soil.

The Spice bush develops into a tall, well-shaped shrub, from four to 12 feet high. It flowers in March and April before the leaves appear. The yellow-green flowers are very dainty. Leaves, fruit and bark are aromatic. This shrub is easy to grow and one of the first to greet the spring, even before forsythia.

Jet bead is a hardy shrub which rarely has troubles and it's usually vigorous.

In late May and early June the shrub starts to produce single, white, four-petaled flowers and continues to produce blossoms intermittently all summer.

Gina Kaufman Weds Paul Boyson In Grandin Catholic Church Rite

BRIEREVILLE—Bouquets of lilacs graced the altar of the Grandin Roman Catholic church for marriage of Miss Gina Kaufman to Mr. Paul Boyson recently.

Rev. Father Picotte conducted the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey J. Kaufman of Briereville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Boyson of Kinlock, Sask.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white gown, featuring a princess style bodice and short sleeves of chantilly lace. The front of her skirt was silk organza with an applique of lace. The back of the skirt consisted of four billowing tiers of matching chantilly lace. She wore three-quarter length gloves. Her simplicity chapel length veil of nylon net was held in place by a double coronet of chantilly lace trimmed with pearls. The inner crown was decorated with sequins to match the bodice of her gown. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses with lily of the valley and fern.

Miss Nettie Boyson, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She wore a waltz-length dress of blue nylon lace and net. Bridesmaids, Miss Doreen Caron and Miss Elizabeth Kuberski, wore waltz-length gowns of coral and turquoise respectively. Each wore a matching headdress.

Mr. John Stripnik, friend of the groom; Mr. Ronald Tesolin, cousin of the bride and Mr. John Boyson, brother of the groom were best men.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mrs. Kaufman received. She chose a two-piece silk dress of Dior blue with a pink corsage and white accessories. Mrs. Steve Kratchkowski, cousin of the groom assisted. She wore a beige silk dress with white corsage and accessories.

A buffet lunch was served to approximately fifty guests at the bride's home.

Later a reception was held in the Lac La Biche Memorial Hall for about one hundred and eighty guests. The bride's table was centred with a four-tier wedding cake, highlighted by two bridal candles around which American Beauty roses and lily of the valley twined.

Mr. MacMillan proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. Telegrams were read from Edmonton, Vegreville and St. Paul, Minn., with best wishes to the couple.

Refreshments followed the supper. After the wedding march, a dance was held till 12 p.m.

Many beautiful gifts were received from friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyson will make their home in Edmonton following their honeymoon at Radium, Banff, Jasper, parts of the United States and Vancouver.

Guests from Edmonton were: Mr. and Mrs. Steve Kratchowski; Carol Browne; Sylvia Elaniak; Mark Wempe; George Littlejohn; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Candido; Mr. and Mrs. H. Brattell; Mr. Ross Diehl and Mr. Jake Ferguson.

Guests from Cold Lake were Mr. and Mrs. O. Saurenson and from Bonnyville, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sherman.

A highlight of the evening before the reception, the bridal party were invited to the Graham home in Lac La Biche, where they were surprised with entertainment by Dee Graham, with music from four boys from the Lac La Biche band.

Uanna Hewko And Walter Yakimok Exchange Wedding Vows And Rings

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of organza over taffeta. The fitted bodice was designed with a high neckline trimmed with pearls and sequins. Her gown featured long lily point sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a double crown, trimmed with sequins and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Sophie Shewtz, sister of the bride was matron of honor. She wore a lime green dress styled with a sash. Bridesmaids were Miss Marian Pullishy, niece of the groom; Joyce Hewko, cousin of the bride; and Joan Nykolyn. Two of the bridesmaids wore lilac colored dresses while the other was dressed in a lime green. The dresses were of chiffon over taffeta. They wore white head pieces and carried bouquets of white roses.

The grooms attendants were: Mr. Felix Hewko, David Pusharski, Jerry Derko and Johnny Karpetz.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hewko chose a dark green dress, with white hat and red rose en corsage.

Mrs. Yakimok, mother of the groom wore a two-piece dress of black and orange with white hat. Her corsage was of red roses.

The bride's table was centred with a beautiful four tier wedding cake. On top was a miniature bride and groom. Tiny red roses graced the corners of the cake.

Many gifts were received and a purse of money was presented.

The reception took place in the Grassland Community Centre. Music was supplied by the "Travelling Pioneers" from Edmonton.

The bride and groom will make their home in Edmonton.

Lac La Biche Creamery Real Winner At Dairy Exhibition

Customers of the Lac la Biche Creamery are dealing with a winning firm. Prizes won for top grade products prove that quality is a "must" with the creamery.

The creamery continues to win awards and last year added to its list of prizes a first and a third in the Canadian National Exhibition, two seconds and a third in the Royal Winter Fair and a second in the Dairy Exhibition at London, Ont. Competitions were for 14 pound and ten pound prints of butter.

Natural Gas was installed in the creamery during the past year and this been a real time-saver and convenience.

Manager Lou Badry's daughter Mrs. Lola Wolstenholme is office assistant and Victor Grenier has been employed as creamery helper. Herb Scott is now on deliveries and Lucien Ulliac has taken Scott's place. Mr. Shellar is no longer with the company.

Alvin Hamilton Endorses June As Dairy Month

Alvin Hamilton, Minister of Agriculture in the federal government was asked to endorse the campaign of the dairy industry to bring the food value of its products and the economical value of the industry itself to the attention of the country.

"It is a pleasure to do so. Few appreciate more than I the enterprise that has been shown by all branches of the dairy business—from producer to processor to retailer—in keeping abreast of the demands made on it. There has been the battle against increased production costs, conversion to new techniques in most fields, and competition against a variety of new foods.

"Butter, cheese and many forms of liquid milk have been mainstays of the Canadian diet for generations and their nutritional values are appreciated the world over. It gives me a warm glow to recall how many hungry children, and adults too, have been nourished by Canadian dairy products shipped to a total of 50 countries in recent years.

"Though buttressed by a system of substantial price supports established by the federal government, the dairy industry is not passively waiting for trade to improve. It is actively seeking solutions to its marketing problems and this current publicity drive represents only one of its many efforts. It is necessary, however, constanly to remind our fellow Canadians that the dairy farm is a national institution on which numerous plants employing hundreds of people have been built up. A slight increase by every family in the purchase of their favorite milk product would be a tremendous aid to the national economy and would also be a valuable investment in good health.

"For many reasons, therefore, I hope that the public will support the "June is Dairy Month" drive by allotting a larger part of the shopping dollar to buying some of the wide variety of food items that have their origin in Canada's dairy herds."

Butterfat Increases During 1961

For the five weeks ending April 1, 2,521,000 pounds of butterfat were received at Alberta creameries, an increase of 10.9 per cent over the 2,274,000 pounds received in March 1960.

For the period January 2 to April 1, inclusive, deliveries were 5,205,000 and 5,765,000 pounds in 1960 and 1961 respectively, an increase of 10.7 per cent.

Milk Products Build Better, Healthier Lives

Obviously, dairy foods meet the first requirement of serving needs and desires of consumers. Human beings can survive without consuming cow's milk, but history, past and current, demonstrates fairly clearly that people live better, longer and healthier lives when there is an abundant supply of dairy foods available.

The quality of the dairy foods is of utmost importance to the dairyman, as well as to the rest of the dairy industry. The product offered to the consumer cannot, of course, be of higher quality than the raw material that goes into the product. The cost of producing the raw material also has a direct influence on the consumer price. These two fundamentals, quality and price, are very closely related to production practices on the farm—as well as processing efficiently in the dairy plants. Availability of products to the consumer depends upon the efficiency of the distribution practices. Salesmanship is applied to the consumers and usually is not a direct farm operation, but this does not mean that distribution and salesmanship are not important to the dairyman in his farm business. The amount and quality of the sales effort will directly affect the demand for milk from the dairy farms. Experience has repeatedly demonstrated that it is poor business to produce milk for which there is no consumer demand, but milk production is good business when consumer demand is growing.

Milk, the most perfect food nutritionally has only been used by human beings as food for less than 6,000 years. It was first used by primitive tribes as a sacrifice to the gods and also as medicine.

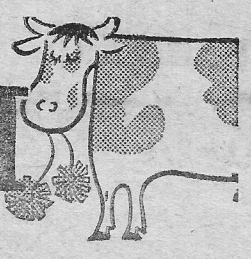
June is DAIRY MONTH



Almost 400,000 Canadian Farms Keep Dairy Cattle

June is dairy month . . . a time when the cows which have been stall fed for many months return to grazing on the lush new green grass. And, as if to express their gratitude for emancipation, they produce more milk in the month of June than at any other time during the year.

Canada's milk supply comes from the nearly 400,000 Canadian farms on which dairy cattle are kept. These range from small farms on which perhaps only two or three cows are found to specialized dairy farms with herds running as high as two hundred animals.

The trend is towards larger herds although there are many small operators who produce milk of excellent quality and do so at high efficiency. Many things enter into the efficiency picture of a dairy farm. The excellence of the animals is of prime importance as are the feeding practices employed. Like any other business the managerial qualities of the farmer can dictate the success of the operation.

One of the ironies of dairy farming is that the efficiency of the farmer is causing him difficulties. He has been steadily increasing the productivity of his farm on a 'per cow, per acre and per man' basis. Modern equipment, better breeding and feeding practices, better fertilization and cultivation methods; all of these have enabled the dairy producer to produce more. The cow population of Canada has remained nearly constant over the past ten years, but in that time the volume of milk produced has increased by some three billion pounds.

This efficiency has been noted, too, in the processing of dairy foods where fewer employees, working a shorter work week, process this greater volume of milk and create a bigger range of dairy products than ever before, in the process.

While the dairy industry has continually fewer people directly employed, it still creates employment for a very large percentage of the population. The farmer's trend toward greater mechanization creates employment for workers in the steel industry and farm implement industries. The farmer's broader, more urbanized way of life makes him an excellent customer for the most modern consumer goods. He is a better customer for automotive equipment than most Canadians. He now buys processed foods in much the same fashion as the city dweller and in so doing creates employment for workers in the food business.

He and others whose livelihood comes directly from dairying create markets for products in staggering proportions. The gross nation product of the dairy industry and its by-products (much of our beef and most of our veal comes from dairy herds) is estimated at about two billion dollars annually. And while all Canadians realize their dependency on milk and products made from milk as a source of nourishment, many are unaware of the vital role that this industry plays in our economy.

A dairy operator, located in a medium sized town once paid off his farmer patrons in silver dollars. In very few days almost every wage earner in the community had handled some of these as a result of normal commerce. It was an eye-opener to the townspeople to see how closely their fortunes were linked with the farmer. And so it is in most Canadian towns, many of which were founded as a centre to serve the farm population and which, in turn, became the markets for the farmers' produce.

So, during June is Dairy Month it is wise for the farmer, and his city cousin to consider that they rise and fall on the same tides; that their fortunes are interdependent; that the prosperity of one depends upon the propsperity of the other.

PM SALUTES THE DAIRY INDUSTRY

"I am pleased to salute the Dairy Industry of Canada on the observance of "June is Dairy Month," which each year brings to public attention the significance of the dairy industry in the national economy.

"It is my hope that the demands of our fast growing population will continue to maintain the industry at a high level of production, for the continued prosperity of the farmers is an essential factor in our national growth and an objective of the government."

The statement is signed John Diefenbaker, Prime Minister.

From a nutritional standpoint June is a good time for all Canadian consumers to consider their good fortune in having readily available an abundant supply of dairy foods second to none in the world. During the war we knew of a "milk for Britain" fund. We now hear of milk programs being operated in underprivileged countries by welfare agencies of United Nations and other organizations. It is unlikely that in Canada we will experience a shortage of these finest of foods. The Canadian dairy industry has geared its methods to the times and will make certain that Canadians have during June and every other month the best dairy foods that can be produced.

Never leave a swimming or wading pool without supervision when there are young children around. Drownings do occur quickly in shallow water.

Dairyman Is A Specialist Long After The Cows Are Milked

A dairyman must be an expert, or specialist, in production of milk, but he must also know a great deal about the Canadian economy and its marketing system. It certainly is far from true that the dairyman has completed his job when the milk leaves his farm.

The price paid for milk, and thus the income of the dairyman, depends largely upon what happens after that milk leaves the farm. Of course, the quality of the milk as it leaves the farm is also basic in determining the price.

In the early years of dairying in this country, when city and village dwellers oftentimes kept a family cow in order to have a fresh supply of milk, farmers frequently marketed their own small amount of excess milk or butter or cheese directly.

A dairyman would load up his wagon with several cans of milk and haul it off to a nearby city or village where he would ladle it out to regular customers, usually in the consumers' own containers.

Or the farm homemaker would put up her butter in her own special crocks and trade them for what she needed at the village store. Consumers depended upon the farmer to provide them a safe supply of milk or butter or cheese.

Wait two hours after eating before entering the water. Play safe and stay alive.

Valedictorian, Kathleen Duban Reviews Past And Looks To Future

LAC LA BICHE — Graduation and commencement exercises were held to honor graduates of Dr. Swift High School recently. Speaking on behalf of her class, Miss Kathleen Duban gave the valedictory address.

Greeting the assembled friends and relatives, she described her graduates as saying farewell to Dr. Swift High School with "misty eyes at the memory of our happy experiences here—but, yet, with jubilation for we have looked forward to the day that would mark the threshold of a new life.

In the past 12 years we have been given a background of knowledge—we learned the value of independent thought, co-operation, sportsmanship, and perseverence. For this we are very grateful to our fellow-students, parents, and teachers because they have contributed their encouragement, resources, and knowledge. We shall forever be indebted to our parents and teachers for our fine start in life and to our fellow-students for the gay adventures we shared with them—from initiation in Grade 10 through preparing for the graduation banquet in Grade 11, to Varsity Guest Weekend in Grade 12.

But now is the time to look toward the future. We have a great responsibility—that of taking our place in society. By utilizing the experiences of the past, we shall begin to fulfil that responsibility. Each of us shall meet the challenge in a different way, but it is the earnest struggle toward the goal that counts. Some shall go to institutions of higher learning while others shall begin their careers immediately. But we must remember that each has a definite, God-given purpose, and in working to fulfil that purpose we will attain happiness and contentment.

Soon we shall become participants in the adult world. With the fervent hope that we may serve society to the best of our abilities, we say farewell to our school. Dr. Swift High will always be among our fondest memories.

When the class histories were read, Kathleen was described as:

An outstanding student in our graduating class,
Is Kathleen Duban, our honor standing lass.
With honors she passed from one to four
And the teachers of Spruce Valley sent her here to learn more.
She kept up her marks which were all very high
And when she would show them, how we all used to sigh.
We wished, how we wished we were as smart as she
But then we found that by studying, we someday might be.
Each night for 8 years she's studied till late.
So that she'd be sure that a ninety she'd make.
When she finished grade 9, a medal she did win,
And then her high school studies did just begin.
From that time on this pattern she's kept
And to all of the others an example she's set.

Histories for other students included the following:

RAYMOND KUNCIO

When Raymond first came to attend our school,
He said to himself, "I must be a fool,
This is no place for a brain like me;
I should be going to some university.
I've come from Owl River School No. 2
Where I headed the class, though the pupils were few".
He worked and he studied to keep a high mark
And was often caught studying till way after dark
For these three years his average never dropped,
But he found two girls soon had his topped.
But he's still the best scholar of the opposite sex,
Cause he reads entirely his arithmetic text.
And now after three years he can finally say
He will be ready to enter the U. of A.

TILLIE TYMAFICHUK

An area called Maloy is where she lived before,
Until last year when she entered our door.
This girl called Tillie showed us that she was smart,
For ninety in French was her lowest mark.
She seems to remember the lectures and things
And is often caught questioning after the bell rings.
Her past is a secret, for little do we know
Of what she did in Maloy a long time ago.
But still we can say without doubt, in school
She must have obeyed each and every rule.
She proves that efficiency doesn't need any noise
For quiet is her manner and soft is her voice.

JOHN BEREZA

When John left the farm in fifty eight
Carrying his spikes and runners and skates,
You'd think he was an athlete ready to compete
In some international men's track meet.
But in contrast, John was merely on his way
To attend La Biche High on this first September day
He had no thoughts of making his grade
But honors in sports he worked for and made.
In hockey and baseball he's always the best,
And was more than once rewarded with the division crest.
But then he decided that school was not play,
So he thought he's work for a few hours each day,
And by working he was able to be here with us
To enjoy this day of excitement and fuss.
For this year has been a memorable one
'Cause John has contributed to much of the fun.
He tried to be different by growing a beard,
But opposition from Castro was what he most feared.
So he shaved it off and revealed his smile,
A thing we will treasure in our memory file.

DEANNE JOHRANYCHNY

A girl from Smoky Lake came parading one day
To our dear town to learn what she may.
T'was for grade eleven that she joined our class,
And today she is with us, our glamourous lass.
We will alway remember the day she came,
'Cause ever since then it's not been the same.
She taught us the finery of having long hair,
And just as we got used to it, it was no longer there.
And now we see her tonight with a hair-do so fine
One would almost think her person divine.
But not only is she known for setting fashion's pace,
She also sets marks in the scholastic race.
In English she's tops, this we all know;
She's skilful in painting and in sketching too.
But in Biology we can still see her squirm,
Especially when we dissected the little earthworm.
Poor Deanne, we find is afraid of any bugs,
Especially those creatures we keep in large jugs.
She turns pale and white,
Then she squeals with fright.
And when a boy comes near with a frog in his hand
She gets so queasy she can hardly stand.
But aside from her fears she's a very fine friend,
And we hope that a diploma she'll get at the end.

OLGA KOVALUK

A girl who admises Shakespeare's MacDuff
Was born in the district called "Beaver Bluff."
For nine years she went to school near home—
In Noral and Caslan she was worked to the bone.
Then to our school she came for Grade ten
And she's done very well ever since then.
For she is charming, witty, and smart—
It's with many memories that we part.

Briereville

Many persons attended wedding festivities of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boyson, nee Gina Kaufman, of this district. Several persons gathered the following day at the Kaufman home to look at the wedding gifts which the couple had received.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Saurenson of old Lake are spending a few days visiting in Briereville. Mrs. Saurenson is a sister of Mr. Kaufman.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Maki of Edmonton attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Boyson. They also visited friends and relatives over the weekend.

Norman Whitford and Howard Hellerud of this district went to work at St. Brides. They are on the paving crew.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitford have their daughter, Grace, visiting with them. Grace has been in Toronto for the last five years. She will visit her parents for about two months, then return to Toronto, where she will resume her work.

Rain is much needed, as the crops are being burned and the gardens are poor. The cutworms and caterpillers have been busy.

Camp McGrane Founded Back In 1953 To Serve Sea Cadet Corps

This summer hundreds of Alberta children will enjoy camping along the edge of beautiful Lac la Biche at Camp McGrane. The purpose of the camp originally was to serve as a base for sea cadets, the Exeter corps. Now, as the property of Sun Publishing Co. Ltd., it will host boys and girls groups from various parts of the province at no cost to them.

It was back in 1953, on May 22 to be exact, that the annual inspection was held at Camp McGrane, five miles from the town of Lac la Biche.

The annual inspection was conducted by Commander G. Manning, RCNR, commanding officer of HMCS Nonsuch, Edmonton, together with a naval party and members of the Alberta Division of the Navy League of Canada.

A minstrel show was staged by the sea cadets after the inspection and dinner was arranged by the Sea Cadet Mothers' Club. Rev. Father J. R. McGrane, former Roman Catholic priest at Lac la Biche, founded the corps which is internationally known.
